ChangeMakers

The new course for Master's students.

Welcome to the future:

Our living conditions and society will change radically in the next 20 years. To create a livable future, we need people who develop creative and visionary solutions and then implement them. In short – entrepreneurial and design competencies. These are precisely what this module is about: Focus for an effective problem definition; courage to initiate change; imagination to develop and articulate ideas; and action to take an idea forward toward implementation.
